About Norec

The Norwegian Agency for Exchange Cooperation (Norec) is Norway's only competence centre for international exchange. As an executive body under the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, we are a key part of Norway's integrated approach to achieving the UN's sustainable development goals.

Building Knowledge

As a centre of competence, we strive to build and expand knowledge on how to build strong global partnerships. In addition, Norec strives to build knowledge in the field of international work exchanges. Multi-method data collections are regularly carried out to inform and improve our trainings and programmes.

Norec has an interdisciplinary team of trainers. They facilitate 35 - 40 trainings for staff and partnerships that work internationally each year.

Grant Management

Norec supports work exchanges that provide global learning opportunities for staff and organisations. With a grant for a work exchange project, workplaces send employees and volunteers on exchange to another country. Norec also administers the grant Democracy Through Partnerships, which supports Norwegian political parties and youth wings in their work to promote democracy globally.

The UN and World Bank

Norec coordinates recruitment of Norwegian citizens to positions funded by the Norwegian government at the UN and the multilateral development banks. This includes positions as Junior Professional Officers and other secondments. We are currently funding 55 Norwegian citizens working for various UN agencies, the World Bank and the Asian Bank on all continents. Norec conducts pre-deployment trainings and follows up the secondees throughout their contracts, with an overall goal of increasing the number of Norwegian citizens in international organisations.

EVAL

Norec hosts the The Independent Evaluation Department of Norwegian Development Cooperation. Their task is to provide impartial assessments that hold Norway's development actors accountable and improve the quality and results of Norwegian development cooperation. Operating under a distinct mandate, the department reports directly to the Secretary Generals of the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Climate and Environment.

Overview

Norec and International Organisations

Recruitment to the UN and the Development Banks

Norec coordinates Norway's recruitment to the UN and other international organisations on behalf of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. As a link between Norwegian authorities and the multilateral system, Norec works to increase the number of Norwegian citizens in international positions.

A central part of this work is the national secondment scheme, which funds junior and mid-level roles in organisations such as the UN and the World Bank. Reserved for Norwegian nationals, these positions provide valuable experience that can lead to long-term international careers.

Norec manages outreach and selection for these roles, and offers guidance, training, and follow-up to secondees throughout their assignments to ensure professional development and the transfer of strategic knowledge back to Norway. The agency also contributes to policy development and talent pipeline strategies, and is establishing a professional network for Norwegians working in international organisations.

In 2025, Norway is funding 55 positions through Norec to the UN system, the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank, with a budget of 75 million NOK. The aim is to increase Norwegian representation in international organisations and encourage Norwegian-funded staff to move into regular positions beyond the funding period.

Two deployment modalities are supported:

- Junior Professional Officers (JPO): Usually three years fully funded by Norway, plus one year of co-funding, typically at P2 or GF level.
- Senior Professional Officers (SPO): At P4 or GG level, with two years of full funding, exceptionally three.

The recruitment cycle begins each September, when Norec and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs identify strategically important positions in dialogue with organisations and embassies. Suggestions can be sent to fn_stillinger@norec.no. Positions to be supported are confirmed in early December, with vacancies posted in late January and deployments expected in September.

Overview

Democracy Through Partnerships

The «Democracy through partnership» scheme is a grant for Norwegian political parties and youth parties. It is aimed at democratic parties and party systems in ODA-approved countries.

Supporting democracy through political parties is a small but important contribution to the development of democracy around the world. Norwegian political parties can play a role in this through their established international networks, their commitment to democracy, and their expertise in party building.

With increasing internationalisation and globalisation, it is also important that Norwegian political parties are aware of, and involved in, international issues and development policy.

The Workers' Youth League (AUF) will collaborate with Fatah Youth Movement (FYM) to strengthen the latter's ability to communicate and mobilise. Particularly, the project aims to strengthen FYM's communication in order to build a stronger and more inclusive organisation. There will be a particular focus on how to use communication tools and social media to get young people democratically involved.

The overall objective of the project is to increase gender equality and knowledge on democratic mobilization in FYM. Through the project, AUF members and Norwegian youth are to also gain insight to the situation in Palestine. The applicant emphasises that making sure that neither Palestinian or Norwegian youth lose faith in a political solution to the conflict in Israel and Palestine is vital at this stage, and that the project seeks to build hope and trust in the Norwegian and Palestinian stance of a two-state solution. The project builds upon a previous project under the same scheme with the same partners.

The partnership aims to support the Ethiopian Political Parties Joint Council (EPPJC) in promoting peaceful competition, national dialogue, and inclusive policies in Ethiopia. It will strengthen the EPPJC's capacity to carry out this role effectively. The project also supports the Women and Youth Wings to improve representation of women and youth within Ethiopian political parties ahead of the 2026 elections. A key focus is strengthening regional structures to encourage wider participation beyond Addis Ababa. Overall, the project seeks to foster ongoing dialogue that leads to peaceful and fair elections.

Overview

Norec Work Exchange Projects

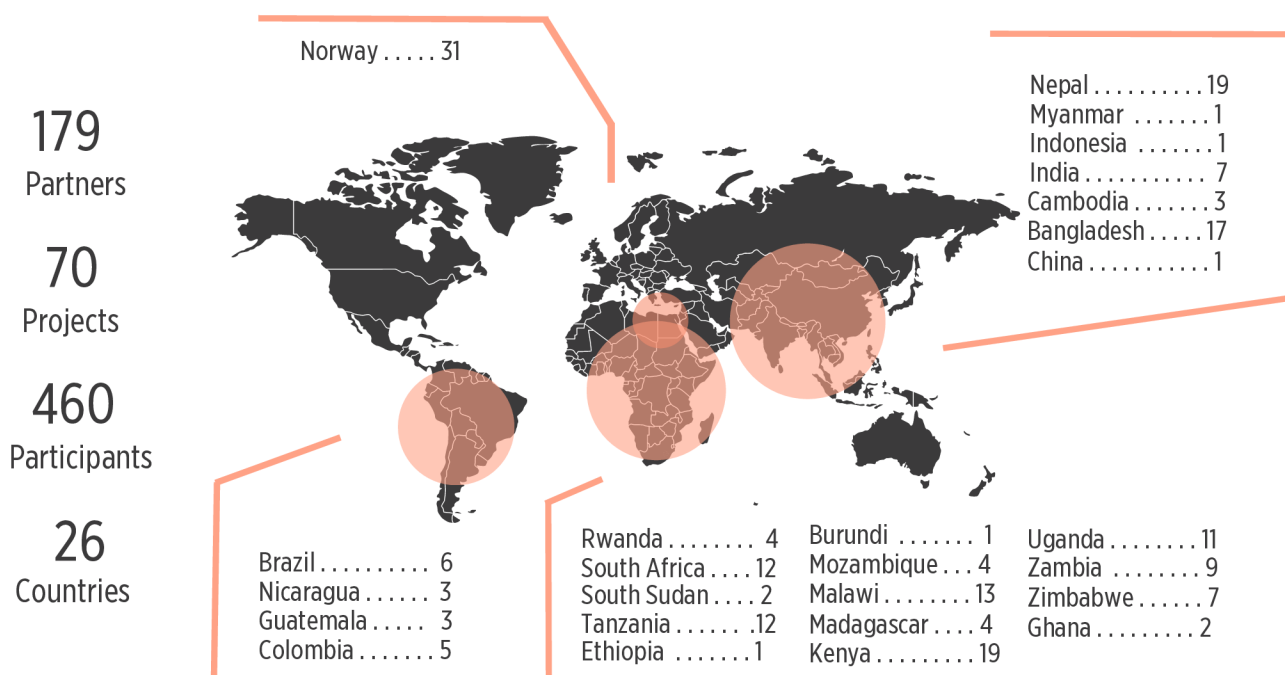

Work Exchange Projects

Yearly, over 175 organisations send their staff to work abroad to learn from partners in other countries, creating new or stronger partnerships through practical experience in different contexts and specialisations.

Norec is founded on the principle that collaboration is essential for addressing global challenges. Whether the partnerships are formed with like-minded or different organisations, they strengthen international alliances and work to reach the UN's sustainable development goals.

The majority of the staff that travel abroad in Norec supported projects, gain valuable work experience. Learning and skill transfer gives exchanged project staff professional growth, which upon their return, contributes to their organisations' efficiency and innovation. Over time, the skills and learning are transferred between those that have been on an exchange, the new staff received on job-exchange and the institutions' staff as a whole. This process also promotes organisational and community advancement.

Norec emphasizes the importance of bridging power imbalances and fostering international relationships as essential strategies for solving global issues. It fosters a sense of unity and shared purpose among diverse groups, laying the groundwork for long-term cooperation and mutual benefits. Through a Norec exchange project, organisations gain the expertise needed to achieve their objectives and push for impactful changes, showcasing Norec's dedication to cross-cultural cooperation in global problem-solving.

Former Norec exchanged staff Jeromnie and her story

Jeromnie Akinyi Obwar grew up in an informal settlement in Kisumu, Kenya. She says this about her work exchange to Norway: “That is when I had my self-identity for the first time. I knew who I was. I knew the potentials that I had.”

Upon returning, she volunteered to inform young people about sexual health rights: “We realised that there was something going wrong in our community. The community members could not reach the higher people. We became the ladder for them to use.”

Jeromnie was selected into the Health Management Committee: “that to me is so big. I can meet with those people. I can now influence change directly.”

Partner Youth Alive! Kenya (YAK) and achievements

Staff from Youth Alive! Kenya learnt how to conduct action research while on exchange with Youth Empowerment Transformation Trust in Zimbabwe. YAK applied this method to map out the situation for youth in Kenya.

A report was compiled, which highlights the gaps in current policies as well as youths' views of what should to be done differently. YAK used the findings to draw attention to the need for change in the electoral process to bring young people out of voter apathy and into politics. The government used key findings from the report to inform governmental youth-focused outreach programmes.

The Norec Network

Since we started in 1963, Norec has supported the exchange of more than 13 000 staff and volunteers between different organisations. These individuals are a resource we want to continue to support. Therefore, we launched the Norec Network in 2023.

We enable the members of Norec Network to share knowledge and expertise, expand their professional network and join physical and digital network activities, and this way, we help keep their engagement going even after their exchange period has ended.

This network works as a resource bank for Norec, where we can gather advice and input from the members. They have helped with facilitation, logistics and interpretation for trainings we have conducted in their home countries.

The Norec Network is available for the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and associated embassies to utilise as a resource.

If you wish to get further information on how you can utilise the network, or have any questions related to the network, please contact network@norec.no

Empowering Healthcare Workers in Internal Medicine, Paediatrics and Psychiatry

This partnership between hospitals in Zanzibar and Norway will exchange nurses, doctors, and therapists to improve care in internal medicine, paediatrics, and mental health. The focus will be on preventing and treating diabetes and hypertension, caring for critically ill infants, and diagnosing and managing mental health conditions while reducing stigma. Staff from Zanzibar will learn advanced treatments and leadership skills from Norway, while Norwegian staff will gain experience with tropical diseases and diverse cultural approaches to healthcare. The project aims to reduce illness and death rates, improve skills in patient care and ethical decision-making, increase community awareness about chronic diseases, and promote mental health through education and better services.

Act Now

This project aims to strengthen youth participation in civil society and local communities, and support young people to take part in the fight against injustice and poverty. By working closely with civil society organisations, the project promotes youth leadership and helps ensure that young voices are heard and valued. The exchange gives young people the chance to learn how to engage, organise and lead. It also helps the partner organisations improve their work on youth participation.

Strengthening the partnership for youth access to life skill based SRHR

This project supports young people's right to life skills education related to sexual and reproductive health and the Sustainable Development Goals. Through exchange, the partners develop tools to help youth understand their rights, build confidence, and take action in their own lives. The project also strengthens the organisations' capacity to work with SRHR and youth empowerment. Children with Disabilities and UN Rights Conventions

This project connects staff and students from Tanzania and Norway to promote the rights and inclusion of children with disabilities. Through exchange and joint learning, participants gain knowledge about the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) and the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD). Together, they develop educational materials for schools and care centres, and work to turn theory into practice. The project strengthens the capacity of both teacher education institutions and the schools they collaborate with, by improving knowledge and skills, and promoting more inclusive and rights-based practices. Digital workshops and joint activities ensure continued learning and collaboration beyond the physical exchange. The long-term goal is to improve quality of life and opportunities for children with disabilities in both countries.

Entrepreneurial advancement in Agriculture, Blue Economy and Renewable Energy in East Africa

This project supports start-ups in the Agriculture, Renewable Energy and Blue Economy sectors in Kenya and Tanzania. Many new businesses in these fields face barriers such as limited funding, weak support systems and lack of international networks. The partners – Techbridge, MTI and the University of Agder – will work together to strengthen entrepreneurial skills, improve business support programmes, and share knowledge across borders. The goal is to build a stronger start-up ecosystem that helps sustainable businesses grow and succeed. At the same time, UiA will gain new insights to strengthen the international perspective in its entrepreneurship education.

Innovate4FoodSecurity

The Innovate4FoodSecurity project, run by StartHub Africa in Uganda and Ennovate Ventures in Tanzania, helps over a thousand young people build entrepreneurial skills to tackle food security problems worsened by climate change. It supports youth in the agricultural value chain to improve productivity and sustainability, addressing malnutrition and low crop yields. Both countries face food insecurity caused by poor infrastructure, drought, and waste. With young populations eager to become entrepreneurs but lacking guidance, the project trains them to spot challenges, test ideas, start businesses, attract customers, and access funding. The goal is to make these young people key drivers of agricultural innovation and resilience in Uganda and Tanzania.

Training of Trainers: Improving entrepreneurial and farming skills of university students

This project brings together universities in Malawi, Tanzania and Norway to improve agricultural education and help more young people find work or start their own businesses. The goal is to modernise small-scale farming by giving teachers better skills and new ideas they can use in their teaching. Participants will learn about digital tools, food production, and how to make farming more climate-friendly. They will also work with private companies and NGOs to make education more practical and relevant. The project shares new methods through churches and mosques, which reach many people in Malawi and Tanzania. Cultivating Food Security: An Exchange Program for Sustainable Agriculture and Nutrition Education

This project brings together partners from Norway and Tanzania to improve food security and public health by combining education, sustainable farming and nutrition. The focus is on strengthening school-based programmes that teach children and youth how food is grown, cooked and enjoyed. Through joint workshops and community activities, participants will share knowledge on farming practices and healthy eating, and build practical skills. The exchange will improve teaching methods, spark greater interest in food production, and promote better nutrition among young people. Building National, Regional, and International Networks

This project brings together partners from South Africa, Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania to prevent violence and promote peace. The focus is on youth and human rights. In all four countries, people face high levels of violence, inequality and weak support systems. Gender-based violence, youth unemployment and lack of safe platforms for participation are major challenges. The project helps build stronger networks between peacebuilders across Africa. It creates spaces for learning, dialogue and joint action. By working together, the partners aim to reduce violence and support young people to take an active role in building safer, fairer societies.
